Sustainability continues to rise: ESYLUX receives the EcoVadis gold medal

Increasing the energy efficiency of buildings, while at the same time conserving natural resources, is a key benefit of the intelligent automation and lighting solutions from ESYLUX. However, ESYLUX has also made significant improvements to sustainability within the company itself. Having received silver last year, ESYLUX GmbH & Co. KG has now gone on to achieve the EcoVadis gold medal and therefore stands among the top 5 percent of all companies rated.

Ever more companies are expressing their desire to make sustainability a key focus. In an effort to go beyond just words and ensure that sustainability is actually put into practice, over 150,000 companies around the world are undergoing assessments from the renowned independent rating agency EcoVadis, and ESYLUX GmbH & Co. KG has now achieved their gold medal for the first time.

ESYLUX among the top 5 percent of all companies rated

The EcoVadis assessment focused on the themes of Environment, Labour and Human Rights, Ethics and Sustainable Procurement. In the Environment category, ESYLUX obtained the highest possible score. "Going on to achieve the gold medal after receiving silver last year proves that we have continued on the right track", says Jan Göger, Head of Quality and Process Management at ESYLUX. "We do more than just develop innovative products for improved energy efficiency of buildings – we also focus on environmentally friendly and ethical practices."

As a result, ESYLUX GmbH & Co. KG stands among the top 5 percent of all companies rated by EcoVadis. One important basis for this successful development is the environmental management system used by the company in accordance with ISO 14001:2015. Furthermore, ESYLUX GmbH & Co. KG is committed to observing the principles and standards of the ZVEI-VDMA Code of Conduct for responsible corporate behaviour.
